Call to Confession

Prayer of Confession (in unison)
Lord God, your love for me is powerful and personal. Because of this love, there are times when you call me to live and act in ways that irritate and annoy me. I would prefer to do what I want, when I want, and not worry about the needs and concerns of those less fortunate or less powerful than myself. Lord, show me your mercy and your call upon my life once more, as I bring to you my morning prayer of confession. . .
Assurance of Pardon

*Creed from The Westminster Confession
God gave the Israelites, as a political body, various judicial laws. These expired with the state of Israel and make no further obligation on God’s people than seems appropriate in contemporary legal codes. The moral law, however, does pertain to everyone, saved and unsaved, forever, not just with respect to its content but also in relationship to the authority of God, the Creator, who gave it. In the gospel Christ does not in any way remove this obligation, but rather strengthens it. None of these uses of the law is contrary to the grace of the gospel. They rather beautifully comply with it, because the Spirit of Christ subdues and enables the will of man to do voluntarily and cheerfully what the will of God, revealed in the law, requires to be done.
